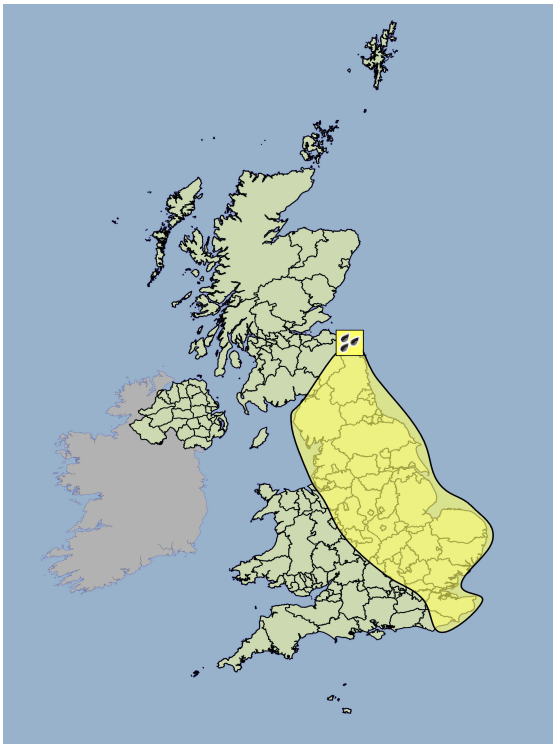
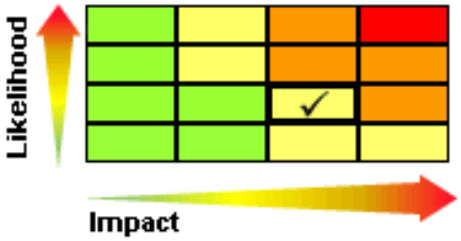
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A moist, unstable airmass will affect the area leading to heavy, slow-moving showers and a risk of hail and thunderstorms. Rainfall totals of 20-30mm are likely in a short space of time, perhaps exceeding 50mm very locally, whilst other locations may see very little.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 11:00 on Fri, 08th Aug 2014 until 23:00 on Fri, 08th Aug 2014

Heavy, slow-moving showers and thunderstorms will affect the area through the rest of today.

The public should be aware of the risk of localised flash flooding due to the intensity of rainfall in some places. Lightning will also be a feature of the storms. This may cause disruption to transport and planned outdoor activities.
